ADDRESS

OF THE

HOUSE OF COMMONS OF GREAT BRITAIN

TO

HIS MAJESTY:

EXTRACTED FROM THE VOTES,

Veneris, 11° die Julii, Anno 40° Georgii 3tii Regis, 1800.

Most Gracious Sovereign,

WE, Your MAJESTY's moſt dutiful and loyal Subjects, the Commons of Great Britain in Parliament aſſembled, having taken into our Conſideration the State of the Public Records of this Kingdom, and the Neceſſity of providing for the better Arrangement, Preſervation, and more convenient Uſe of the ſame, humbly beg leave to lay before Your Majeſty the Report of our Proceedings thereon; and to repreſent to Your Majeſty, that in ſeveral of the principal Offices we have found the Public Records preſerved with great Order and Regularity, and in ſome few, with a Method and Care which are exemplary; but that, in many of the moſt important Offices, they are wholly unarranged, undeſcribed, and unaſcertained; that ſome of them are expoſed to Eraſure, Alteration, and Embezzlement, and others are lodged in Places where they are daily periſhing by Damp, or incurring a continual Riſk of Deſtruction by Fire.

A Period of nearly Seventy Years has elapſed ſince the laſt General Parliamentary Inquiry upon this Subject; and, during this Interval of Time, the Change which has taken place in the Language and written Character of Judicial Proceedings, as well as the large Accumulation of Materials which has been progreſſively ſuperadded in every Department, have increaſed the Difficulties of methodizing the ſeveral Repoſitories, or applying their Contents to Purpoſes of practical Uſe.

In the Courſe of our Inquiry, we have found that many of the Public Buildings allotted to theſe Uſes, and eſpecially thoſe Buildings which belong to Your Majeſty's Exchequer in all its Branches, comprehending the ancient Records and Muniments of the Rights and Poſſeſſions of the Crown, and the Vouchers and Accounts of the Public Revenues and Expenditure, are in a State ſo incommodious and inſecure, as to require immediate Attention.

It has alſo appeared to us, that the ſalutary Meaſures heretofore adopted by Your Majeſty's Authority, for methodizing the Contents of ſome of the principal Repoſitories of Your Majeſty's Records and Papers of State, might alſo be extended to many other Repoſitories, with Conſequences highly beneficial to the Public Service.

And the ſame Motives which encouraged our Predeceſſors to intreat Your Majeſty's Directions for printing the ancient Records of Domeſday, and the Rolls of Parliament, have alſo

alſo induced us to ſubmit to Your Majeſty's Wiſdom, our Deſire of extending the ſame Meaſure to other ancient and valuable Monuments of our Hiſtory, Laws, and Government.

Your faithful Commons do therefore moſt humbly beſeech Your Majeſty, that You will be graciouſly pleaſed to give ſuch Directions as Your Majeſty, in Your great Wiſdom, ſhall think fit, for the better Preſervation, Arrangement, and more convenient Uſe of the Public Records of this Kingdom.

And we beg leave further to aſſure Your Majeſty, that whatever extraordinary Expenſes may be incurred by the Directions which Your Majeſty, in Your great Wiſdom, ſhall think fit to give on this Occaſion, ſhall be cheerfully provided for and made good by Your faithful Commons.

Jovis, 17° die Julii;

Anno 40° Georgii 3^tii^ Regis, 1800.

Mr. Chancellor of the Exchequer reported to the Houſe, That their Addreſs of Friday laſt (that His Majeſty would be graciouſly pleaſed to give ſuch Directions as He ſhall think fit, for the better Preſervation, Arrangement, and more convenient Uſe of the Public Records of this Kingdom; and to aſſure His Majeſty, that whatever extraordinary Expenſes may be incurred by the Directions which His Majeſty ſhall think fit to give on this Occaſion, ſhall be made good by His faithful Commons) had been preſented to His Majeſty; and that His Majeſty had commanded him to acquaint this Houſe, that He will give Directions as deſired by the ſaid Addreſs.

COMMISSION

For executing the Meaſures recommended by the Houſe of Commons reſpecting the PUBLIC RECORDS OF THE KINGDOM.

GEORGE R.

GEORGE THE THIRD by the Grace of God King of Great Britain, France and Ireland, Defender of the Faith, &c.

To Our right truſty and right entirely beloved Couſin and Councillor William Henry Cavendiſh Duke of Portland, Knight of the moſt noble Order of the Garter; Our right truſty and well beloved Councillors William Wyndham Baron Grenville, and Henry Dundas, Eſquire, Our Three Principal Secretaries of State; Our right truſty and well beloved Councillors Henry Addington, Eſquire, Speaker of the Houſe of Commons, William Pitt, Eſquire, Chancellor and Under Treaſurer of Our Exchequer, and Firſt Commiſſioner of Our Treaſury, Sir Richard Pepper Arden, Knight, Maſter of the Rolls; Frederick Campbell, Eſquire, commonly called Lord Frederick Campbell, Our Clerk Regiſter of Scotland, Sylveſter Douglas, Eſquire, one of the Commiſſioners of Our Treaſury, Our truſty and well beloved Sir John Mitford, Knight, Our Attorney General, Sir William Grant, Knight, Our Solicitor General, Robert Dundas, Eſquire, Our Advocate for Scotland, and Charles Abbot, Eſquire; Greeting.

WHEREAS the Knights, Citizens, and Burgeſſes and Commiſſioners of Shires and Boroughs, in Our Parliament of Great Britain aſſembled, having taken into their Conſideration the State of the Public Records of this Kingdom, and the Neceſſity of providing for the better Arrangement,

Arrangement, Preſervation, and more convenient Uſe of the ſame; have humbly laid before Us a Report of their Proceedings thereon; and have alſo humbly repreſented unto Us, that the Public Records of the Kingdom are in many Offices unarranged, undeſcribed, and unaſcertained; that many of them are expoſed to Eraſure, Alteration, and Embezzlement, and are lodged in Buildings incommodious and inſecure; and that it would be beneficial for the Public Service, that the Records and Papers contained in many of the principal Offices and Repoſitories ſhould be methodized, and that certain of the more ancient and valuable amongſt them ſhould be printed; and have humbly beſought Us that We would be graciouſly pleaſed to give ſuch Directions thereupon as We in our Wiſdom ſhall think fit:

Now know ye, That We, conſidering the Premiſes, and earneſtly deſiring more effectually to provide for the better Arrangement, Preſervation, and more convenient Uſe of the ſaid Records and Papers, and repoſing great Truſt and Confidence in your Fidelity, Diſcretion, and Integrity:

Have authorized and appointed, and by theſe Preſents Do authorize and appoint you the ſaid William Henry Cavendiſh Duke of Portland, William Wyndham Baron Grenville, Henry Dundas, Henry Addington, William Pitt, Sir Richard Pepper Arden, Frederick Campbell (commonly called Lord Frederick Campbell) Sylveſter Douglas, Sir John Mitford, Sir William Grant, Robert Dundas, and Charles Abbot, and any Three or more of you, to make a diligent and particular Inquiry into the ſeveral Matters which Our faithful Commons have, in the abovementioned Report of their Proceedings, repreſented as fitting to be provided for by Our Royal Authority.

And furthermore, We do by theſe Preſents, give and grant to you Our ſaid Commiſſioners, and any Three or more of you, full Power and Authority to cauſe all and ſingular the Officers, Clerks, and Miniſters of the ſaid Offices and Repoſitories reſpectively, to bring and produce upon Oath before you, or any Three or more of you, all and ſingular Rolls, Records, Books, and Papers, or other Writings belonging to the ſaid Offices or Repoſitories, or any of them, or any Officers within the ſame, and which ſhall be in the Cuſtody of them or any of them reſpectively.

And Our further Will and Pleaſure is, That ye, or any Three or more of you, upon due Examination of the Premiſes, ſhall cauſe ſuch Matters to be duly and ſpeedily executed as ye ſhall judge fitting and proper to be done, for the more effectual Execution of the ſeveral Meaſures recommended by Our faithful Commons in the ſaid Report of their Proceedings relative thereto.

And, to the end that Our Royal Will and Pleaſure in the Premiſes may be executed with the greater Regularity and Expedition, We farther by theſe Preſents will and command, and do hereby give full Power and Authority to you, or any Three or more of you, to nominate and appoint from Time to Time ſuch Perſon of Ability, Care, and Diligence, as ye ſhall think fit, to be and act as your Clerk or Secretary, for the Purpoſe of aiding you in the Execution of theſe Preſents; and alſo to nominate and appoint in like Manner ſuch ſeveral Perſons of Ability, Care, and Diligence, as ye may think fit, to be Sub-Commiſſioners, to be employed under your Direction and Controul in the Premiſes, and more eſpecially to methodize, regulate, and digeſt the Records, Rolls, Inſtruments, Books, and Papers, in any of Our Public Offices and Repoſitories; and to cauſe ſuch of the ſaid Records, Rolls, Inſtruments, Books, and Papers, as are decayed, and in Danger of being deſtroyed, to be bound and ſecured; and to make exact Calendars and Indexes thereof; and to ſuperintend the printing of ſuch Calendars and Indexes, and original Records and Papers, as ye ſhall cauſe to be printed: Which ſaid Clerk or Secretary, and Sub-Commiſſioners, and every of them, ſhall and may be removed by you, or any Three of you, from Time to Time, at your Will and Pleaſure, full Power and Authority being hereby given to you to appoint others in their Places reſpectively.

And We further will and command, and by theſe Preſents ordain, That ye, or any Three or more of you, ſhall from Time to Time certify, under your Hands and Seals, unto Our Lord High Treaſurer, or unto the Commiſſioners of Our Treaſury for the Time being, what ſhall be a fit and ſuitable Recompenſe to the above-mentioned Clerk or Secretary, and Sub-Commiſſioners reſpectively, for their Pains and Services in the Execution of the Duties hereby required to be by them performed; which ſaid Recompenſe it is Our Will and Pleaſure ſhall thereupon be paid to them reſpectively and accordingly.

And Our further Will and Pleaſure is, That ye, or any Three or more of you, do and ſhall, on or before the 25th Day of March, in the Year of our Lord 1801, and ſo from Year to Year,

Year, on or before the 25th Day of March in each Year reſpectively, ſo long as this Commiſſion ſhall continue in force, certify unto Us in Our Privy Council, under your Hands and Seals reſpectively, all and every of the ſeveral Proceedings of yourſelves and of the ſaid Sub-Commiſſioners had by virtue of theſe Preſents, together with ſuch other Matters (if any) as may be deſerving of Our Royal Conſideration touching or concerning the Premiſes, and what further Meaſures (if any) ye ſhall think fit to propoſe thereupon.

And laſtly, We do by theſe Preſents ordain that this Our Commiſſion ſhall continue in full Force and Virtue; and that ye Our ſaid Commiſſioners, or any Three or more of you, ſhall and may from Time to Time, and at any Place or Places, proceed in the Execution thereof, and of every Matter and Thing therein contained, although the ſame be not continued from Time to Time by Adjournment.

Given at Our Court, &c. the 19th Day of July, in the Year of our Lord 1800.

ORDER.

At a Board of the Commiſſioners appointed by His Majeſty for carrying into Execution the Meaſures recommended by the Houſe of Commons reſpecting the Public Records of the Kingdom, &c.

Holden at the Houſe of the Right Honourable the Speaker of the Houſe of Commons, the 22d Day of July 1800:

PRESENT,

The Right Honourable the Speaker of the House of Commons,
The Right Honourable Sylvester Douglas,
Sir John Mitford, Knight, His Majeſty's Attorney General,
Sir William Grant, Knight, His Majeſty's Solicitor General,
Charles Abbot, Eſquire;

It was Ordered, That the Secretary do write to the Truſtees of the Britiſh Muſeum, to expreſs the Deſire of this Board, that the Catalogue of the Manuſcripts in the Cottonian Library, lately compiled by their Principal Librarian, may be forthwith printed.

By Order of the Board of Commiſſioners,

John Topham, Secretary.

PREFACE.

THE high eſtimation in which the Cottonian Library has ever been held by all perſons competent to appreciate its value, is amply evinced, not only by the multitude of teſtimonies of learned men, who have had opportunities to notice its intrinſic value, and real importance; but more ſo by the great ſolicitude that has at all times been ſhewn by the Legiſlature for its ſafe cuſtody and preſervation, as well whilſt it continued in the poſſeſſion of the illuſtrious family from whom it had its origin, as ſince it became the property of the Public.

To enumerate the many unequivocal encomiums which have from its firſt eſtabliſhment been beſtowed upon this Library, by men of the firſt eminence in moſt branches of literature, would not only exceed the limits of this introduction, but alſo prove in ſome meaſure ſuperfluous, ſince an ample detail of them has already been laid before the public by the learned compiler of its Catalogue, publiſhed in the year 1696*. In addition however to thoſe honourable teſtimonies, it may not be improper to ſuggeſt, that during the above-mentioned period, ſcarce a writer on the antiquities, the laws, the conſtitution, and the hiſtory of this country, has neglected to avail himſelf of the many authentic documents depoſited in this important collection: And that among our contemporaries, no one hardly ever thinks of engaging in any work or enquiry of that nature, without having recourſe to the abundant information he is likely to derive from the contents of this repoſitory.

Independently of theſe claims to general approbation, it is alſo to be obſerved that a great number of legal evidences are here preſerved, which have often contributed, and will no doubt hereafter be frequently called for, to determine important queſtions concerning titles, honours, deſcents, eſtates, prerogatives, and immunities; and cannot hence be conſidered as trivial by numbers of individuals, who may be involved in cauſes of the above deſcription, eſpecially in a country where the ſecurity of property is one of the main pillars of the ſtate.

Had not Dr. Smith at the beginning of his above-mentioned Catalogue, the Editors of the Biographia Britannica†, the ingenious Author of the Hiſtory and Antiquities of Leiceſterſhire‡, and various other late Biographical writers§, given very circumſtantial accounts of the life of Sir Robert Cotton, the founder of this Library, and of the origin, progreſs, and moſt eminent merits of his collection, a circumſtantial detail of theſe particulars would no doubt have been expected in this place. But although an ample ſtatement of this nature may now be deemed ſuperfluous, yet as moſt of thoſe who may have occaſion to conſult this Catalogue, will probably think that a very ſhort epitome of what has already been delivered on that ſubject, may be neceſſary as an introduction to the additional facts which are to be here ſtated reſpecting the Hiſtory of the Library, and the motives of the preſent publication, the following very conciſe ſketch of the Founder's life, will it is hoped not prove wholly unacceptable to the reader.

* Dr. Thomas Smith. † Biographical Dictionary, voce Cotton. ‡ Vol. ii. p. ii. pag. 834. ſeq.
§ New and General Biographical Dictionary; Gentleman's Magazine, &c.

Sir Robert Cotton, a deſcendant from a very ancient family, which in the reign of Edward III. flouriſhed in the county of Cheſter, was born at Denton, near Conington, in Huntingdonſhire, on the 22d of January 1570. He was entered at Trinity College, Cambridge, where in 1585, he took the degree of Batchelor of Arts, and where he early imbibed a taſte for, and laid the foundation of his preeminent learning in the Hiſtory and Antiquities of his country. This bias, on his leaving college, was greatly increaſed and confirmed by the free intercourſe he immediately commenced with the celebrated antiquaries, Joſcelin, Lambard, Camden, Noel, and ſeveral others, who about that time (though as yet unſucceſsfully) attempted to eſtabliſh a Society for the Inveſtigation of Britiſh Antiquities. Animated by the example of theſe aſſiduous collectors, he neglected no opportunity (of which abundance offered at that time) to acquire a number of chronicles, chartularies, and other original muniments, which at the late diſſolution of the monaſteries had found their way into the hands of private perſons, who in general were by no means aware of their real importance. In theſe endeavours he was ſurpaſſed by none, nor was he in fact equalled by any of his emulous contemporaries, moſt of whom ultimately co-operated to increaſe the ſtock he was accumulating for the benefit of his country.

In 1599, he accompanied his friend William Camden in a journey to the north of England, where they jointly explored the whole extent of the Picts wall, and brought away ſeveral inſcriptions and monuments, which, after having been ſome time depoſited at Sir Robert's ſeat at Conington, were preſented to Trinity College Cambridge, where they are ſtill carefully preſerved.

At the acceſſion of K. James I. in 1603, he was knighted; and one of his female anceſtors, Maria de Weſhenham, the Wife of William Cotton, his fifth progenitor, being deſcended from the family of the Bruces in Scotland, the King uſually honoured him with the appellation of Couſin. And we accordingly find that he ever after uſually ſubjoined the name of Bruce to that of Cotton, and cauſed the royal arms of Scotland to be added to his own armorial bearings.

In the year 1608, he was appointed one of the Commiſſioners for enquiring into the State of the Navy. And in 1611, having been the principal promoter of the plan for the eſtabliſhment of the order of Baronets, he was himſelf raiſed to that rank, being created the 36th in ſucceſſion at the firſt nomination.

After having been, during upwards of 30 years, a diſtinguiſhed ornament to his country, and the principal oracle to which men in the higheſt ſtations recurred for accurate information and advice in all matters relating to the hiſtory, the rights, and the conſtitution of the kingdom, during which period he produced upwards of thirty tracts or diſſertations, chiefly on political and conſtitutional ſubjects, moſt of them written at the deſire of men in power, if not at the expreſs command of his ſovereign; it is no doubt greatly to be lamented that a life ſo meritorious ſhould, towards its cloſe, have been imbittered by baſe calumny, and the arbitrary proceedings of thoſe from whom he had an undoubted right to expect diſtinguiſhed favour and protection.

When in the year 1615 Robert Carr, whom the king's favour had rapidly raiſed to the rank of earl of Somerſet, became implicated in the charge of having been acceſſary to the murder of Sir Thomas Overbury, the earl having ever ſince his exaltation been in habits of intimacy with Sir Robert Cotton, had immediate recourſe to him both for advice and aſſiſtance in his perplexity, and thereby drew upon his friend a ſuſpicion of connivance, if not of interference, from which he was called upon to clear himſelf before the Privy Council. He was even committed to the cuſtody of an alderman of London; nor, although nothing could be proved againſt him, was he releaſed from this confinement till five months after, when the whole affair was terminated by the pardon the king was pleaſed to grant to the earl, and to the counteſs of Eſſex.

About the ſame time, the unpardonable inadvertency, or rather the execrable perfidy of Gondemar the Spaniſh ambaſſador, drew on Sir Robert Cotton another imputation, of which however the calumniator ſoon found it neceſſary to acquit him by his own unqualified confeſſion. A liſt he ſuffered to go abroad of perſons who had ſecretly received pecuniary gratuities at his hands for ſiniſter purpoſes, was found to contain the ever venerable name of Sir Robert; but being called upon from authority, either to prove or contradict the opprobrious charge, he revoked his declaration by aſſerting that one of his ſecretaries had unawares inſerted the name in the liſt. Although Sir Robert's honour was perfectly vindicated vindicated in both theſe inſtances, yet ſuch tranſactions, in a mind ſo upright as his, could not fail to cauſe much agitation, and to diſturb the tranquillity of a life addicted to none but uſeful and laudable purſuits. On one of theſe occaſions this excellent character had the mortification of ſeeing himſelf for a time excluded from his own library; the Privy Council, by whoſe order it was locked up, deeming its contents of too great importance to be expoſed in the manner in which the liberal Owner ſuffered them to be inſpected. From a commiſſion of James I. dated Oct. 26, 1615, for the examination of Sir Robert Cotton, on a charge of having communicated the valuable ſtate papers in his Library to the Spaniſh ambaſſador, who had cauſed them to be copied and tranſlated into the Spaniſh tongue, we have reaſon to conclude that this circumſtance happened on the latter of theſe occaſions.

The anxiety to which theſe tranſactions muſt have given riſe, was however trifling, compared to what he muſt have felt, when, either by the neglect or the diſhoneſty of perſons in whom he had placed confidence, another ſuſpicion aroſe againſt him, which for a time deprived him of the favour of his ſovereign, once more excluded him from the uſe of his Library, and according to his own declaration greatly contributed to abridge his days. In 1629, a tract was handed about in MS. entitled "A project how a prince may make himſelf an abſolute tyrant." The enquiries that were immediately made for the author of ſo pernicious a performance led at length to the Cottonian Library. Sir Robert, perfectly conſcious of his innocence, made ſtrict enquiry into the tranſaction, and ſoon found that a copy of this tract, written at Florence in 1613, by Robert Dudley D. of Northumberland, under the leſs exceptionable Title of "Propoſitions for his majeſty's ſervice to bridle the impertinency of Parliaments," had, unknown to him, found its way into his Library; that, likewiſe without his knowledge, his Librarian or Amanuenſis had, as is ſuſpected for pecuniary conſiderations, ſuffered one or more copies of it to be taken, under the former of theſe titles, and thus drew the fatal imputation to fall upon one who, though perfectly free from guilt, could not long ſurvive a ſuſpicion ſo injurious though ſo groundleſs. Although he completely vindicated his innocence of having written or diſſeminated a tract ſo deſtructive to the liberties of the people, of which he had ever ſhewn himſelf a moſt zealous friend and advocate, yet under the renewed pretence that his Library was not of a nature to be expoſed to public inſpection, it was again put in ſequeſtration, and himſelf once more excluded from all acceſs to it. What effect this muſt have had upon his wounded mind may eaſily be gathered from the viſible decline of his health ever after, frequently declaring to his friends, "that they had broken his heart who had locked up his "Library from him." Shortly before his death, he cauſed to be ſignified to the Privy Council "that their ſo long detaining his books from him, without rendering any reaſon for the ſame, "had been the cauſe of his mortal malady." He died on the 6th of May 1631, aged 60 years 3 months and 15 days, and was buried on the ſouth ſide of the church of Conington, where a ſuitable monument was erected to his ever revered memory.

That his Library continued in ſequeſtration ſome time after his death, appears manifeſt from the petition of Sir Thomas Cotton his only ſon and heir, wherein he ſtates that his ſtudy had been a long time locked up, and himſelf debarred from the uſe of it; and that it appearing from a ſchedule of the contents of the ſaid Library prepared for the purpoſe*, that there were no books or papers therein, but ſuch as were the undoubted property of the petitioner, he therefore humbly prayed that he might henceforth have the free uſe of his ſtudy, it being the beſt room in his houſe.

Although no record appears to be extant that the prayer of this petition was complied with, yet there is every reaſon to believe that it was ſoon after granted; and that Sir Thomas, to whom the property had devolved, continued to the day of his death, which happened in the year 1662, in quiet poſſeſſion of his Library.

We are informed by Stukeley, that ——— Bromfall, Eſquire, of Blunham in Bedfordſhire, high ſheriff for the county of Bedford in the year 1650, was greatly inſtrumental in preſerving this ineſtimable treaſure, during the convulſions of the civil wars, in which all documents of a conſtitutional and legal nature were induſtriouſly ſought after, in order to be deſtroyed †.

* A large roll on vellum now extant in the Library, which contains a compendious Catalogue of the ſame, digeſted in a ſyſtematic order, is probably the above-mentioned Schedule, which is ſaid in the Petition to have been compiled by Mr. Dickinſon. From a tranſcript of this Roll, given him by Mr. Aſtle, Mr. S. Hooper printed the 8vo. edition of the Catalogue, which he publiſhed in the year 1777.

† V. Stukeley Itin. Curios. p. 74. The Library appears to have been then depoſited at Stratton in Bedfordſhire, to which place it was probably removed for the ſake of ſecurity; Sir Thomas's eldeſt ſon, afterwards Sir John Cotton, having married Dorothy, heireſs of Edmund Anderſon, Eſq; of that place.

Sir

Sir Thomas Cotton was ſucceeded by Sir John his eldeſt ſon, and he too appears to have been never moleſted in the free enjoyment of his Library. During the latter part of his life he readily permitted Dr. Thomas Smith to compile the Catalogue of the collection, which was printed at Oxford in the year 1696*.

The next, and reſpecting the public, the moſt important tranſaction concerning this Library, is recorded in the ſtatute made in the year 1700†, entitled "An Act for the better ſettling "and preſerving the Library kept in the houſe at Weſtminſter called Cotton Houſe, in the "name and family of the Cottons for the benefit of the public." This act, after doing ample juſtice to Sir Robert Cotton for forming a moſt valuable collection of manuſcripts, papers, records, &c‡. "of great uſe and ſervice for the knowledge and preſervation of our "conſtitution in church and ſtate, and generally eſteemed the beſt of its kind now any where "extant;" and reciting that the ſame had been carefully preſerved, and much augmented and enlarged by Sir Thomas the ſon, and Sir John the grandſon of the ſaid Sir Robert Cotton, declares "that the ſaid Sir John Cotton, in purſuance of the deſire and intentions of his father "and grandfather, is content and willing that his manſion houſe and Library ſhould con-"tinue in his family and name, and that it be kept and preſerved by the name of the "Cottonian Library, for public uſe and advantage."

After this preamble, ſo honourable to the collectors, and ſo deciſive in favour of the utility and importance of the collection, the ſtatute enacts, that after Sir John Cotton's death, the ſaid Library, together with his manſion-houſe and its appurtenances be veſted in truſtees; the houſe, for the uſe of the deſcendants of Sir Robert Cotton, the founder, for ever; and the Library to be carefully preſerved for the public uſe, without ſuffering any alienation or embezzlement upon any account whatever.

The firſt concern of the truſtees appointed by this act was to cauſe the Library to be carefully inſpected in order to aſcertain and identify its contents, that they might render the keeper whom they were to appoint to the care of it, reſponſible for the ſecurity of the ſame. For this purpoſe they named Matthew Hutton, John Anſtis, and Humphrey Wanley, three of the moſt eminent antiquaries of thoſe days, to examine carefully into the ſtate of it, and report to them concerning its extent and ſtate of preſervation. This report, dated June 22d, 1703, is extant in manuſcript in the Britiſh Muſeum, from which it appears that they compared all the volumes in the Library with the entries in Dr. Smith's Catalogue, and aſcertained the number of pages in each volume; but that being limited for time, they did not make any material corrections in the ſaid Catalogue, which they acknowledged to be in ſeveral places materially defective. They likewiſe repreſented many of the volumes to be in a ſtate of decay, and the place where the Library was kept not altogether calculated for its preſervation.

The ſolicitude of the legiſlature to have this important collection effectually ſecured for the uſe of the public, induced them ſoon after to frame a new ſtatute, entitled "An Act for the better "ſecuring her majeſty's purchaſe of Cotton Houſe in Weſtminſter §," in which, after reciting that the Library, in its preſent ſituation, was by no means in the ſtate of ſecurity, nor of the degree of utility it was intended to be; it was provided that "to the intent ſo great a treaſure "of books and manuſcripts, ſo generouſly given for the public ſervice, might not remain any "longer uſeleſs; and that it might be in her majeſty's power to make this moſt valuable col-"lection uſeful to her own ſubjects, and to all learned ſtrangers;" an agreement had been made with Sir John Cotton, grandſon to the Donor, for the purchaſe of the inheritance of the houſe where the Library was depoſited, ‖ for the ſum of £. 4,500, which purchaſe could not have been made without an act of parliament, the preceding act concerning this Library having directed that the houſe ſhould not be ſold or alienated: and that the ſaid houſe be henceforth veſted in the queen, her heirs and ſucceſſors for ever.

Whether it was for the purpoſe of erecting a new building for the reception of the Library on the ſite of the ſaid houſe, which indeed was directed by the laſt-mentioned act, or for what other reaſon, does not at preſent appear; but we are informed in a ſubſequent report of a Committee of the Houſe of Commons, that the Library was in the year 1712 removed to Eſſex Houſe in Eſſex Street Strand, where it continued to the year 1730, when it was conveyed back to Weſtminſter, and depoſited in a houſe in Little Dean's Yard, purchaſed by the Crown of the lord Aſhburnham.

* The Books were depoſited in 14 preſſes, over which were placed the Buſts of the 12 Cæſars, and of Cleopatra and Fauſtina, whence the preſs-marks given to the Volumes in its ſeveral Catalogues, which have neceſſarily been retained to this day.

† 12 and 13 Will. III. c. 7.

‡ Beſides the Library of Manuſcripts, this Repoſitory contained alſo a conſiderable number of valuable Coins, chiefly Saxon and old Engliſh, and ſeveral antiquities, Roman and Engliſh, all which are now incorporated in the Collections of the Britiſh Muſeum.

§ 5 Anne, c. 30.

‖ This houſe, ſituate behind a part of the Houſe of Commons, is ſtill called Cotton Houſe, and is now converted into a reſidence for the chief clerk of the Houſe of Commons.

Here

Here ſhortly after, viz. on the 23d of October, 1731, in the morning, a fire broke out, which deſtroyed ſeveral, and damaged many of the manuſcripts, and was near proving fatal to the whole Library: what remained was removed, by permiſſion of the Dean and Chapter, into a new building deſigned for the dormitory of Weſtminſter ſchool; and the truſtees (particularly Mr. Speaker Onſlow, who inſtantly upon hearing of the fire, haſtened to the ſpot, and perſonally aſſiſted in reſcuing all that could be ſaved from the flames) immediately took the moſt effectual ſteps in their power for retrieving as much of the damage as could be repaired. They took the opinion of ſeveral of the moſt experienced officers entruſted with public records, concerning the beſt expedients in this emergency, and proceeded in the manner ſuggeſted by them in redreſſing the injury. Nor was the Houſe of Commons inattentive to this misfortune, ſince we find a report of a Committee appointed by them to view the Cottonian Library, and other public records of the kingdom, dated May 9, 1732, in which an ample account is given of the accident itſelf, and of the meaſures that were adopted in conſequence of the damage it occaſioned. To this report is likewiſe added an appendix, ſhewing at large what manuſcripts had been wholly deſtroyed or materially injured, that perſons who may be poſſeſſed of copies of them, might have an opportunity of contributing to the reparation of the loſs, by communicating thoſe tranſcripts.

When at length, in the year 1753, the legiſlature was induced by the will of Sir Hans Sloane, Baronet, to purchaſe his extenſive collection of Natural and Artificial Curioſities, and to eſtabliſh a National Repoſitory under the name of the Britiſh Muſeum, it did not eſcape them, how valuable and important an addition the Cottonian Library would be to an eſtabliſhment of ſuch great public utility. The act therefore made in that year, after reciting the weighty motives that prompted them thereto, directed that the ſaid Library be depoſited in the above mentioned Muſeum; and that two truſtees, to be nominated in ſucceſſion by the repreſentatives of the Cotton family, be for ever added to thoſe appointed by this act, for the execution of the purpoſes thereof*.

* The following TABLE of the Deſcent and preſent Repreſentatives of the COTTON FAMILY, will, it is hoped, not be unacceptable to the reader, who muſt ſurely feel much intereſted in a Progeny from which the public derives ſuch eſſential advantages:

SIR ROBERT COTTON, BART.
the Collector of the Library, ob. 1631.

SIR THOMAS COTTON, Bart. ob. 1662.

SIR JOHN COTTON, Bart.
the Donor of the Library, ob. 1702.

John Cotton, Eſq. married Frances Downing, ob. vita patris, 1681.

Sir John Cotton, Bart. ob. 1731, ſine prole.

Frances Cotton, married to Wm. Hanbury, Eſq. ob. 1756.

Mary Hanbury, married to Martin Anneſley, D. D.

Francis Anneſley, Eſq. L. L. D. M. P.

Catherine Hanbury, married to Velters Cornewall, Eſq. M. P.

Catherine Cornewall, married to Sir Geo. Amyand, now Cornewall, Bart. M. P.

Sir Robert Cotton, Bart. ſucceeded Sir John his nephew, ob. 1749.

Sir John Cotton, Bart. ob. 1752.

Elizabeth Stewart Cotton, married to Thomas Bowdler, Eſq.

John Bowdler, Eſq.

Thomas Bowdler, Eſq.

We gather from this Table that Francis Anneſley, Eſq. member of parliament for Reading, is at preſent the lineal repreſentative of the elder branch of the Cotton family; in conſequence of which he, and by his nomination, Sir George Cornewall, Baronet, his couſin by marriage, are at this time the Cottonian truſtees of the Britiſh Muſeum. Mr. Anneſley, in right of his great grandmother Frances, daughter of Sir George Downing, Baronet, is likewiſe the repreſentative of that diſtinguiſhed family, to whom the Public are indebted for the liberal foundation of a College at Cambridge, the maſterſhip of which has been conferred on Mr. Anneſley in the charter lately granted for carrying into execution the intentions of the teſtator.

It remains now to lay before the public what ſteps the Curators of the Britiſh Muſeum have taken in order to fulfil the intentions of the Founder, the Donor, and the Legiſlature, reſpecting this important part of their truſt.—After cauſing the Library to be carefully depoſited in a ſafe and conſpicuous part of the department of Manuſcripts, they being aware that much remained yet to be done, in order to render it as uſeful as the nature of its contents would admit of, were pleaſed in the year 1793, to direct the keeper of that department (an office then held by me) to take every ſtep that might be deemed adviſable to reſtore ſuch of the damaged volumes as were thought yet capable of ſome further repairs, and the imperfection of Smith's Repertory having been repeatedly complained of, to prepare a new and more accurate Catalogue without delay. The following account of the manner in which I endeavoured to acquit myſelf of this taſk, will at the ſame time convey the beſt idea I can give of the preſent State of the Library.

This Library, which originally conſiſted of 958 volumes, was by the above-mentioned fire in the year 1731, reduced to 861 volumes, of which, when brought to the Muſeum, 105 were damaged bundles preſerved in caſes. Many of the volumes in bindings were not paged at all; and few indeed were paged with accuracy. In ſeveral of them there were evident marks that leaves had been purloined; and ſome had been bound up with much irregularity and diſorder. Concerning the bundles in caſes, the Committee of the Houſe of Commons, who, in the year 1732, examined into the damage occaſioned by the fire, reported that ſeveral of them might, in careful hands, be ſo far reſtored as to be rendered uſeful. But this was afterwards rendered a taſk of much greater difficulty; the perſons by whom they had been occaſionally handled, having thrown them into great, and in many inſtances irretrievable, confuſion.

With reſpect to Dr. Smith's Catalogue, the number of articles entered in it, does not much exceed 6,200, which it will be ſeen hereafter is not a fourth part of the contents of theſe 861 volumes. The chief omiſſions are in the State Papers and Collections of ſmall detached Tracts, of which there are no leſs than 170 volumes. Moſt of theſe are entered only as ſingle articles, whereas upon an average each of them contains at leaſt 100 diſtinct pieces. About 80 of theſe volumes, as Sir Wm. Dugdale informs us in his life*, were by him found in looſe bundles, and cauſed to be bound up, but unfortunately without any order as to perſons, times, or matter; whence it follows that they have been hitherto little uſed, becauſe little known, and almoſt inacceſſible for want of proper calendars.

Many of the other articles, eſpecially the Biblical Books, Liturgies, Chronicles, &c. have, it muſt be owned, been deſcribed with ſufficient accuracy, ſo as to leave little room for emendation. But in other inſtances, the learned compiler has inadvertently ſuffered ſuch miſtakes to eſcape him, as rendered a careful examination of the whole Catalogue indiſpenſably neceſſary. Theſe defects were noticed, and in a few inſtances ſupplied, by Mr. David Caſley, in an Appendix to his Catalogue of the king's Library of MSS. The learned Humphrey Wanley, obſerving in how jejune and ſuperficial a manner the Saxon MSS. had been deſcribed, drew up very ample accounts of them, which have been publiſhed in the 2d volume of Hicks's Theſaurus: and ſeveral other men of learning have ſince pointed out and lamented many inſtances of omiſſion and inaccuracy, which greatly diminiſh the utility of the Catalogue. Among the more ſtriking of theſe imperfections are the aſcribing to Chaucer a volume of poems by Hampole and others; the entering Lydgate's Siege of Troy as an anonymous poem; Comeſtor's Bible Hiſtoriaux as a common French verſion of the Bible; Marbodæus de Gemmis as a work of Evax king of Arabia, &c.

My firſt care, on entering upon my taſk, was to cauſe all the volumes to be regularly paged, or at leaſt the old paging to be accurately aſcertained, without however obliterating the old numbers, ſince that would have proved fatal to the many references that have been made to theſe MSS. I then proceeded to examine the bundles in caſes, and found means, after many repeated and not a few unſucceſsful attempts, to arrange ſeveral volumes and parts of volumes of State Papers. Some of the ſhrivelled MSS. on vellum I likewiſe found capable of being reſtored, though not without great care and dexterity on the part of the book-binder. With his aſſiſtance I have ſucceeded in reſtoring 51 of the above 105 damaged MSS. which are now bound in 44 volumes: and though ſeveral of theſe be ſtill defective, eſpecially where parts have been conſumed or defaced by fire; yet upon the whole it will be found that much uſeful and authentic information is ſtill preſerved in them. The remaining 61 bundles have appeared to me irretrievable; and indeed moſt of them ſeem to be obſcure tracts and fragments of little or no importance. They are now contained in 62 caſes.

* P. 22.

This

This done, I applied myſelf to the compilation of the Catalogue. And here each ſeparate article has been entered in its ſucceſſive order*, under as ſhort and yet comprehenſive a title as could be deviſed, which, eſpecially in the multitude of letters and tracts in a great variety of antiquated languages and hand-writings, and without either argument or rubrics, was attended with no ſmall degree of difficulty and labour. Particular pains have been taken to diſcover the true authors of anonymous and pſeudonymous works; in many inſtances, eſpecially in anonymous poems, the firſt lines have been tranſcribed in the Catalogue in order to identify the piece. Notice has been taken of thoſe works that have been publiſhed, and references have been made to the titles of the publications, or to the collections in which they have been edited. All poſſible endeavours have been uſed to aſcertain the dates of the Letters and State Papers, where (as has but too often been the caſe in the laſt and the preceding century) the writers have omitted them; and even approximations, with marks of interrogation, have been inſerted where the exact dates could not be obtained. The folio of each article has been entered; and the number of folios in each volume has been noted, both in the Catalogue and at the end of the volume, in hopes thereby to prevent all future mutilation, or at leaſt to lay it open to detection. The form of each volume, the material on which it is written, and its age, if prior to the 15th century, when it could be aſcertained with any degree of probability, have likewiſe been deſcribed in the Catalogue.

This Catalogue, thus drawn up with all the induſtry and circumſpection of which I was capable, will be found to contain about 26,000 articles. That in the variety and perplexity of reſearch implied in ſo intricate a maze of latent facts, no errors ſhould have eſcaped my beſt endeavours will hardly be expected, eſpecially by thoſe who are apprized that in the opinion of the beſt bibliographers, no work of this nature, certainly none executed by one ſingle perſon, and one moreover inceſſantly diſtracted by a variety of other avocations, has ever been produced free from imperfections. But it is hoped that theſe imperfections however numerous, will not materially affect the utility of the performance.

This Catalogue remained in manuſcript in the Library till laſt year, when a Committee of the Houſe of Commons for enquiring into the State of the Records of the Kingdom, having ordered a Report concerning the Contents of the Britiſh Muſeum reſpecting the objects of their reſearches, were neceſſarily informed of its exiſtence; and having been apprized by competent judges that its publication might prove an object of much utility, recommended to the Commiſſion appointed by His Majeſty for carrying into effect the propoſals of the ſaid Committee, that the printing of it be proceeded upon without delay. The documents relating to this tranſaction are, by order of the Commiſſion, prefixed to this Preface. The directions given in conſequence of this recommendation are now finally executed. And the Public, it is hoped, will acknowledge that no endeavours have been wanting in all thoſe concerned in the care and management of this Library, which may render it of the greateſt poſſible utility.

* It is with great reluctance that the intention of digeſting the Catalogue into a ſyſtematic order has been relinquiſhed; the number of articles that could not poſſibly be reduced under particular claſſes being ſo great, that nothing more ſatisfactory in this reſpect could have been produced, than what is afforded by Hooper's above-mentioned Catalogue. A copious Index, on which more than ordinary pains have been beſtowed, will, it is hoped, in ſome meaſure ſupply this want of ſyſtematic arrangement.

Julius, A. IV.

Codex chartaceus in 4to. folior. 34.

Rerum memorandarum liber. i. e. præfati Bern. Andreæ Commentarii pars: de rebus nempe ad an. 20. R. Henrici VII. ſpectantibus; in cujus laudibus fuſe expatiatur. Ipſi Regi inſcriptus.

Julius, A. V.

Codex membranaceus in 4to. conſtans foliis 184. Sec. XIV.

1. Carmen rhythmicum de Balliolo rege, et rebus Scoticis:—cui præfigitur rudis pictura naviculæ cum 7 navigantibus, quorum alter coronam geſtit.—Incip.

"Ecce dies veniunt Scoti ſine principe fiunt;
"Regnum Balliolus perdit, tranſit mare ſolus." 2.

2. Chronique d'Angleterre depuis Brutus jusqu'à Eadwald (Cadwallader) en vers alexandrins françois; par Pierre de Langtoft. This is considered as the first part of Langtoft's Chronicle, and is properly an abridgment of Geoffrey of Monmouth. Beg. "Deus le tot puissant ke Ceel et Terre crea." 3.

3. Prophetia Merlini; una cum duabus iconum tabulis, in quarum altera exhibentur Merlinus et Manacha, mater ejus, alloquentes; in altera rex Vortigernus et Merlinus, subtus quam hic versiculus: "Vortiger in veste regali sedet honeste." 48.

4. Chronique de Pierre de Langtoft depuis Cadwallader jusqu' à Edward I. en vers alexandrins françois. This is the second part of Langtoft's Chronicle, compiled from Bede and others; the English translation of which, by Robert of Brunne, has been published by Hearne, Oxford, 1725. An old ballad containing the will of a wounded buck (printed by Copland under the title of "Wyl Bucke his Testament,") is inserted fol. 126. b. 53.

5. Un Conte en vers François. Comm.

"Un Rois jadis estait qe avait un amye
"La quele plus ama qe ne fist la vie." 167.

6. Priere à la Ste Vierge, en vers François. Comm.

"Dame Coroune floure de parays
"De haut chose emprendre me fu entremys."

Cet article et le precedent sont par Pierre de Langtoft. 169. b.

8. L'Aveu de l' hommage dû par l'Ecosse au Roi Edward I. d'Angleterre, 1291, (v. Rymer II. 529.) 174. b.

9. Verses in old English; seemingly a prophecy of some battle between the English and Scots. Beg.

"Als ÿ ÿod on aÿ Mounday bytwene Wÿltinden and Walle." 175.

10. "Des suffrances de Guil. Longespée, pris par les Saracins." Comm.

"Ky vodra de doel et de pite oier tresgraunt,
"De bon William Longespée ly hardy combatant." 176. b.

Julius, A. VI.

Codex membranaceus, in 4to. folior. 89.

1. Computus de singulis mensibus. 1.

2. Calendarium metrice descriptum, cum delineatis Zodiaci signis in summa pagina; in infima vero singulorum mensium sunt icones, in quibus opera, &c. iis convenientia repræsentantur. 2.

3. Tabulæ de Epactis, Lunar. Paschal. &c. cum aliis ad computum ecclesiasticum spectantibus; ex Beda forsan excerptæ. Annos enim à nativitate Christi tantum 703 numerat hic tractatus; cum ex altera tabula hunc tractatum A°. 969 fuisse scriptum liquet. 8.

4. Hymnarium Latinum, cum versione interlineari Saxonica, initio mutilum. Hymnario præmissus est hymnus de Scã. Cruce, recentiore manu scriptus, una cum altero de resurrectione Salvatoris nostri, notulis musicis insignito.—Ad calcem etiam libri habentur hymni aliquot de B. V. Maria, cum notis musicis; aliaque metrica. 17.

Julius, A. VII.

Codex membranaceus, in 4to. constans foliis 132.

1. Chronica Romanorum Pontificum et Imperatorum, à Petro apostolo usque ad Alexandrum III. A° 1162.—Successorum inde ab Alexandro usque ad Urbanum IV. recensentur nuda nomina. 2.

2. Chronica Romanorum Pontificum, edita ab Onithone, Sutrino Episcopo; viro, ut habet titulus, per omnia doctissimo; usque ad Urbanum. Scripsit auctor ad calcem, "Urbani (IV.) vero Pontificis acta. et de ejus victoria si quis scire voluit, legat librum quem scripsi ad Wigonem scismaticum, et ibi inveniet ad plenum dilucidata quæ voluit." 14.

3. Chronica regum Manniæ et insularum, et episcoporum, et quorundam regum Angliæ, Scotiæ, et Norwegiæ; à rege Cnuto A° 1000, usque ad Aum 1374. Iparsim. 30.

4. Limites sive divisiones terrarum monachorum de Russyn, insulæ Manniæ à terris Regis. 51.

5. Versus Nigelli de Wetekre (sc. Wireker) monachi Cantuariensis; continentes monita moralia; missi ad Guil. episcopum Eliensem, R. Ricardi I. cancellarium. Vide non procul ab initio, ad libellum:

"Quæsitus regni tibi cancellarius Angli,
"Primus sollicita mente petendus erit.
"Hic est, qui regni leges cancellat iniquas,
"Et mandata pii principis equa facit." 53.

6. Versus latini, de virtutibus et vitiis, rebusque sacris, aliisque miscellaneis. Incip.

"Vos qui sub Christo mundo certatis in isto
"Discite virtutum conflictus et vitiorum." 64.

7. Versus Gallici, de conflictu corporis et animæ. Incip. "Un Samedi par nuit ou dormi en un lit,
"Evien in un dormant une vision grant." 70. b.

Codex membran. in folio verſo, conſtans foliis 176. Sec. XV.

1. Johannis Gower Chronica, quæ "Vox clamantis" dicitur: ſive poema de inſurrectione ruſticorum contra ingenuos et nobiles, tempore R. Ricardi II. et de cauſis ex quibus talia contingunt enormia: libris ſeptem. 1.

On the back of fol. 8. is a curious painting of a man in the dreſs of the 15th century, with a bow and arrow in his hand, ready to ſhoot at a ſphere. Above are the following lines:

"Ad mundum mitto mea jacula dumque ſagitto,
"At ubi juſtus erit nulla ſagitta feriet.
"Sed male viventes hos vulnero tranſgredientes,
"Conſcius ergo ſibi ſe ſpeculetur ibi."

Mr. Strutt takes the above for a portrait of Gower, and has engraved and publiſhed it as ſuch in his Regal and Eccleſiaſtical Antiquities, where he ſays that the original is all of one colour, viz. dark brown: the fact is that the drapery is blue, and the other parts are of different colours.

2. Chronica tripartita (an ejuſdem J. Gower?) de depoſitione Ricardi II. et coronatione R. Henrici IV. metrice. Hi verſus præmittuntur. 152.

"Iſta tripertita ſequitur que mente perita
"Cronica ſervetur; nam pars quæ prima videtur
"Eſt opus humanum; pars illa ſecunda prophanum
"Eſt opus inferni; pars tertia jure ſupernum
"Eſt opus in Chriſto: vir qui bene ſentit in iſto.
"Scire poteſt mira; quid amor ſit quid ſit et ira.
"Eſt tamen hoc clamor, omnia vincit amor.

3. Carmen, unde magnificus rex noſter Henricus prænotatus apud Deum et homines cum omni benedictione glorificetur. 166.

Incip. "Rex celi Deus et dominus, qui tempora ſolus
"Condidit, et ſolus condita cuncta regit."

4. Epiſtola brevis, unde virtutes regiæ morales ad ſanum regimen ampliori memoria dirigantur. metrice. 166. b.

Incip. "O recolende bone pie rex Henrice patrone,
"Ad bona diſpone quos eripis à Pharaone."

5. Carmen ſuper multiplici vitiorum peſtilentia, unde tempore Ricardi II. partes noſtræ ſpecialius inficiebantur. 167.

Frustum, capsula asservatum.

A volume on parchment, which once consisted of 272 leaves, written about the XIV century, containing eight tracts, the principal of which was a "Register of William Cratfield, abbot of St. Edmund." The whole is so damaged by fire as to be scarcely of any use. Casley mentions that Dr. Pepush had copies of the 3, 4, and 5 tracts, being on music; probably also of one between N° 3 and 4, being a treatise of Egidius de Muris, which Smith had omitted in his printed catalogue.—N. B. The copies of N°ª 3, 4, and 5, have since been presented to the Brit. Mus. by Sr John Hawkins: v. Aysc. Catal. N° 4909.

Caligula, D. I.

N. B. This volume and the next (Calig. D. II.) which had been much damaged by the fire in 1731, have until now been kept in caſes in looſe ſheets. Many articles have by this means been loſt, and the whole was thrown into the greateſt diſorder. What remains has now been arranged, and the original paging has been preſerved, a few ſheets excepted, whoſe proper places it has been impoſſible to aſcertain. This is mentioned in order to account for the deficiencies that occur.
